

G'day mate,

I'm writing to express my disappointment about the delay in implementing an Australian Open Source AI system. It's a missed opportunity that could save us hundreds of billions and transform our country for the better. We need AI for Australians now!

AI offers countless benefits, like improved efficiency, cost savings, transparency, and direct interaction with the people. It can rebuild trust in government, provide multiple options for decision-making, and monitor politicians' performance. It's a modern and inevitable solution that can make everything longer and more efficient, reducing benefits paid and ensuring an equitable tax system.

Now, I understand there are concerns about dystopian scenarios. But with proper management, we can steer clear of those pitfalls. We need to establish ethical guidelines, maintain human oversight, protect privacy, foster collaboration and research, and educate and empower citizens. By doing so, we can harness the best qualities of democracy and prove that equality is more than just feel-good words.

So, let's not waste any more time. Implementing an Australian Open Source AI system is a no-brainer. It's time to unleash the magic of AI and create a future where every kid becomes an AI guru and where the FOI system works like a charm. Together, we can make good advice from a machine a reality, while ensuring that everything is flagged and weighted based on the will of the people.

Thanks for considering my plea. Let's embrace AI and make Australia's future brighter than ever!

Crikey,
